$500 REWARD

is offered by the manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for a case of Chronic Nasal Catarrh which they cannot cure.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.—Dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passages, discharges falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak, watery, and inflamed; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a nasal twang; the breath is offensive; smell and taste are impaired; there is a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility. Only a few of the above-named symptoms are likely to be present in any one case. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood by physicians. Its mild, soothing, and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh, "Cold in the head," Coryza, and Catarrhal Headache. Sold by druggists everywhere, 50 cents.

"Untold Agony from Catarrh."

PROF. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost staunch me. By the use of Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

"Constantly Hawking and Spitting."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2602 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hawking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a full trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."

Three Bottles Cure Catarrh.

ELI ROBBINS, Runyan P. O., Columbia Co., Pa., says: "My daughter had catarrh when she was five years old, very badly. I saw Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy advertised, and procured a bottle for her, and soon saw that it helped her; a third bottle effected a permanent cure. She is now eighteen years old and sound and hearty."

A MEDICINE SQUAW.

The Faith of Her Followers in Slow Recitative Incantation.

When an Indian is wounded by an arrow his first act is to seize it and, with a quick pull, tear it out of the wound, as the longer the arrow remains therein the more difficult and painful is the operation of extraction. The wounded white man, Abbott, neglected this precaution, and when he tried to pull it out afterwards, the arrow broke, leaving the head in the wound. Some days after the fight, Abbott being in great pain, he and his friends were visited by a party of Con-Cows, who told them that the great medicine squaw of the tribe was coming, and that she would pull the arrow out of his breast without causing him any pain.

In a few moments she appeared, arrayed in all the paraphernalia of her high position among the Con-Cows, and escorted by a large retinue of friends and satellites. Advancing with slow steps and dignified countenance, she halted opposite Abbott, and with an imperious gesture ordered him to rise, open the bosom of his shirt, and expose the wound—all of which he did, affected and impressed, in spite of himself, by her earnestness and dignity. Looking with a deep and searching glance at the wound, she began in a slow recitative an incantation addressed to some invisible being, accompanied by an equally slow chant on the part of her companions.

When this had continued for some time, and the spirit was apparently conciliated by these preliminary steps, she slowly extended her arm toward the wound as if grasping an invisible arrow, and as quickly withdrew her arm, as if the effort to pull the arrow out of the wound had been ineffectual. The chant grew stronger; and slowly and with a firm purpose the arm was again extended and withdrawn—this time with a strong effort, as if the arrow was deeply imbedded in the flesh. Again and again was the act repeated, her face becoming sterner and grander in her unflinching purpose to overcome all resistance.

As her efforts increased so did the chant of her companions, gradually swelling into a deafening din, until, with her brows knit and her resolute will shining out of her eyes, she gave a mighty pull—and the chant was one of triumph and exultation and the bystanders pressing around her beheld, bloody and with shreds of torn flesh still adhering to it, the arrow head in her open hand!

Glancing with ineffable superiority over the whites, she slightly tossed her head, as if such an operation was by no means a wonderful one for her to preform, and turning about she retraced her way back, amid the applause of her awe-struck comppanions.

To say that the whites were astonished would hardly express their feelings; but the most astonished of all was Abbott, who remained standing, looking open-mouthed at her retreating form—for he still felt the arrow head in his breast, where it remained at last advises dispite the efforts of some of the best physicians in San Francisco, who have at last told him that any attempt to cut it out at this late day would endanger his life.—A. G Tassin, in Overland.

How They Telegraph in China.

The Chinese Government officials have lines of wires from Shanghai to the north and south well established and in good working order. With regard to the difficulty of telegraphing, as stated in a morning paper that published an interview with Captain Brady of Philadelphia, that is all nonsense. Since 1873 there has been a cable between Hong Kong and Shanghai. Other lines are in working order, and there has never been any difficulty experienced by the Chinese in sending messages. It requires about 7 000 characters to conduct the every-day ordinary transactions in Chinese mercantile affairs. A book containing the characters, numbered from 1 to 7,000 has been printed by the telegraph authorities, and if a man wants to send a message he simply wires numbers representing the characters, and the receiver marks down the numbers at the end of the line. Reference is made to the book, and the characters are ascertained. This system has been working for the last thirteen years, and has given satisfaction to the Chinese.—San Francisco Chronicle.

—At a funeral which recently occurred at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., a severe thunderstorm came up just as the people were leaving the grave, and they all ran for trees that were scattered about in the graveyard. Nine persons took refuge under a large oak. Scarcely had they gathered about the tree when it was struck by a terrific thunderbolt, and the whole nine were instantly killed. This catastrophe struck terror to the hearts of the people, and their groans and shrieks were, for a time, heartrending.

—The safe now in use at the recorder's office at Oroville, Cal., was made in New York in 1843. It is the first safe the county ever used, having been used by the treasurer at Bidwell's Bar. It is now so old that it has holes in its sides, but it can yet hold considerable coin.

—Mrs. C. C. Williams, a professional nurse in Elmira, N. Y., while warming alcohol over an oil stove to prepare a bath for a patient, spilled some of the alcohol, which flamed up, and set her clothes on fire. She was burned so terribly that she died the following night.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her; for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Swearingens Drug Store.

EIGHT years ago Levi P. Morton fitted out the ship Constellation with food for the starving people of Ireland. This benefaction, which undoubtedly saved many lives, cost the donor about $50,000.

THE Republican candidate for President went to the war himself. He did not send a substitute, as Cleveland did, nor stay at home and denounce the war, as Thurman did.

THE neighbors of Ben Harrison are showing the esteem in which they hold the gallant soldier statesman. We did not notice that Mr. Cleveland's former neighbors at Buffalo made the welkin or anything else ring after his nomination at St. Louis.

IN the great financial crash of 1857, the fortune of Levi P. Morton, who was then a New York merchant, was wrecked, and he settled with his creditors on the basis of fifty cents on the dollar. But when fortune once more smiled on him, he paid all his creditors in full, including interest. This is the kind of incorruptible business man that the Republicans have nominated for Vice President.

CHICAGO Journal: The gentlemen who are howling so vociferously about what they call the "free whisky" plank in the Republican platform, seem to forget that the internal revenue tax is only 90 cents a gallon, and that it is the local license tax, and not the internal revenue tax, which makes whisky dear or cheap, or free. It is to be remembered that the Republican party is in favor of a high-license tax, while the Democrats are not, and the Prohibitionists are opposed to any license tax at all.

"WE did not nominate Blaine," remarked a New York delegate after the convention was over, "but we will give him the — est biggest reception ever witnessed in America when he lands in New York." No American citizen has ever received such an ovation as is awaiting Mr. Blaine in this country, when he comes back to carry the flag of "Harrison, Protection and Victory" through the land. Mr. Blaine is greater to-day than he would be if he were President, and listening thousands will hang on the utterances of his eloquent tongue when he arises to address the American people as no one but Mr. Blaine can do.

Harrison, Harrison, Give Him Three Cheers.

EDITORS DECATUR REPUBLICAN: There are no Mugwumps in Illinois. Every Republican, every Douglas patriot, even though some of them had a preference for Blaine, Gresham and others, confess that the patriots of the National convention did the right thing. Harrison and his peer, Levi P. Morton, will carry the entire North in '88. I cast my first vote for Gen Harrison in 1840, and have always traveled the broad guage American track. The fallacies and un-American heresies of the present pursuant Democratic demagogues, including State Rights, Free Trade, Sailors' and Fisherman's Rights, did not allure me and cause me to switch off on a side track. About Gen'l Ben Harrison I have to say, that in the matter of blooded stock I am a convert. In his case the indicator on my tape line did not point to any deterioration of the blood that coursed the veins of his ancestors. Many men are a little cranky on the subject of blooded Jersey stock, and the editors of the DECATUR REPUBLICAN are not the exception. All talk of their graded stock as recorded in the herd book, as follows: One is to two-ths, another is 31 thirty-seconds, and so on. Go with me to the old church in Cabin Point, Surry, state of Virginia, and we read on a monument (spelling was then very elaborate in an early age, and I only give a part): "Here lyeth the body of Honorable Benjamin Harrison, who did justice, loved mercy, and walked humbly with his God. Was always loyal, and a great benefactor to his country. He departed this life the 30th day of January, 1712." On another monument we read "Under this peaceful marble rests the body of the Honorable Henry Harrison, who with great firmness resigned his spirit into the hands of his Maker the 9th day of September, 1772. In public character he was an upright judge and an unbiassed counsellor, ever true to the interests of his country, and in private life he was a tender husband, a fair dealer and generous, pious to God and benevolent to men." I personally know the Hero of Tippecanoe and his son, the Hon. John Scott Harrison, who represented the Cincinnati congressional district. I also know Gen'l Ben Harrison, the next President of the United States. History does not grade him, or any of his ancestors; he is of pure Anglo Saxon, American, Whig, Republican blood; will make the entire North solid in 1888, and will guide our Ship of State through the breakers to the old time-enduring basis, and in time we will march triumphantly onward to hail other Washingtons, and Lincolns, "whose pious toils sacred to Science, Liberty and the Right and peace through every age Divinely brought, shall be the boast and wonder of mankind." In conclusion I will state—

He was born in Freedom's nest,
Rocked by whirlwinds in their rage,
Nursed at Freedom's stormy breast,
Saved its sires from age to age.
With Morton for a running mate,
He will guide our Ship of State—
Harrison, Harrison, give him three cheers!

Not being a born poet, I have to request that some one add a few stanzas to this my first effort, and send it to the DECATUR REPUBLICAN for publication, and we will sing it to the old familiar air, "Gally the Troubador."

PRESIDENTIAL VETOES.

The Senate Committee on Pensions Take Issue with Mr. Cleveland,

And Denounce His Wholesale Use of the Veto Power on Mere Technical Grounds.

A Comparison Between the Present and All Previous Executives of the Country.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—From the Senate committee on pensions Chairman Davis to-day reported back to the Senate, with recommendations that they be passed over the President's vetoes, Senate bills granting pensions to David A. Servis, Wm. Sockman, Sr., Johanna Loewinger, Hannah R. Langdon, Charles A. Mortz, Bessie Mansfield and Mary Sullivan. In his report Senator Davis says:

Since the 8th of May, 1886, 136 special pension acts have been disapproved by the President. Legislation of this character has been a matter of settled and favored policy for a very long period, commencing before the civil war. These disapprovals, based in a great majority of the cases upon the expressed opinion of the President that Congress had erred in its judgment upon mere questions of fact, such as the incurrence of disability in the service, or whether death from a disease or casualty asserted to be the secondary result of some disease incurred in the service, ought to be held upon the testimony to be so referable, or whether the proof before Congress showed the existence of any disability whatever. It is, of course, impossible for the President to examine the mass of documentary evidence upon which each case depends, and which is invariably examined by the committee, and it follows that when he disagrees with Congress upon the question of fact in these cases his judgment must be based, not upon the reports of committees in which the facts are always stated with sufficient fullness, but upon the report of some subordinate in the Bureau of Pensions. This bureau, whose action Congress has reversed, is thus enabled to review the action of Congress by the express direction of the President. These reports of the bureau can not, in the nature of things, possibly be made by any one person within the time during which the President can hold bills for consideration when they are received by him in such numbers. This explains the numerous inconsistencies of executive action which are hereinafter fully exposed. The method of consideration is an abridgment by the Executive of the exercise of the right of Congress to waive that strict proof which is properly required in ordinary cases in the department, under the somewhat technical rules that have grown up out of repeated precedents. This results plainly from the practice that executive disapproval follows in any case where the records of the bureau are deemed by the President not to sustain the action of Congress. This invasion upon the province of Congress goes further. It annuls its undoubted power in the cases which have been subjected to executive disapproval to determine by the will of its majority that the public money shall be appropriated for a legitimate and constitutional purpose. It can not be maintained upon any fair construction of the Constitution that the power of executive disapproval ought to be exercised upon acts of this character for the sole reason that the President differs in opinion from Congress upon a mere question of the weight of testimony, or upon the expediency of a special act which subserves a proper general purpose and which imparts no power of any other department. Usurpations move rapidly in republics from small objects to those of greatest concern.

That the power exists in the Executive to disapprove any legislative measure can not be denied, but the duty undeniably exists that it shall not be used in such a manner, or upon any occasion or pretext as to make its exercise operate as an encroachment upon the powers of other departments of the Government.

It is the theory of our Government that the great body of power shall rest in the legislative department, as the most immediate representative of the people. Of the 102 bills disapproved by the President, 136 are bills granting pensions to individuals. All of his predecessors vetoed but 191 bills. None of his predecessors disapproved any acts of this character, excepting President Grant, who disapproved but five, and none of these were sustained on account of any difference of opinion upon the facts

THE FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

(First Session.)

SENATE

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Mr. Davis, from the pensions committee, reported back seven vetoed pension bills with recommendations that they be passed over the vetoes. Calendared.

Mr Allison reported the Army Appropriation bill.

The further consideration of the Fishery treaty and Mr Morgan's resolution was postponed to Monday next.

The Senate resumed consideration of the River and Harbor Appropriation bill, the question being on the amendment inserting an item of $10,000 for the Yadkin river, in North Carolina, which was agreed to

At this point a statement was made by Mr Allison as to the status of the various appropriation bills. The West Point, Indian and Pension bills had passed both houses, and had, he believed, been signed by the President; the Agricultural bill had passed the Senate on the 4th of June, and he thought it was now in the hands of House committee on agriculture; the Diplomatic and Consular and District of Columbia bills were in conference; the legislative bill had passed the Senate on Tuesday, and would be reported back to the House to-day; the Post office bill passed the Senate on the 11th of June, and had not since been heard of, the Army bill was reported to the Senate to-day. The Sundry Civil bill had been sent to the Senate last Tuesday, and could not be considered before the 30th of June, nor could the Naval bill be considered before that date. Neither the Fortification nor the General Deficiency bills had yet been reported to the House

The consideration of the River and Harbor bill was renewed

Among the amendments adopted were Adding to the item of $380,000 for the Ohio river $20,000 for a drift gap at Davis' Island dam; increasing the amount from $50,000 to $75,000 for the St Clair Flats Ship canal, Michigan.

An amendment adding to the amount for the Illinois river was passed over, owing to the absence of Mr Cullom

The bill was then laid aside, one-half of the bill having been gone over.

Senators Sherman, Allison and Manderson, and Colquitt and Berry were announced as the committee to attend the Centennial Exposition at Cincinnati.

The conference report on the Diplomatic and Consular bill was agreed to. The amendment appropriating $25,000 for an investigation of the Upper Congaree, which would not be agreed to on the part of the House conferees, was insisted on by motion of Mr. Frye.

The joint resolution extending for thirty days the appropriations for the current fiscal year was presented and referred, after a discussion in which it was held that resolutions of this character were inadvisable.

The Senate then took up the Army Appropriation bill. An important amendment, appropriating $900,000 for cannon, projectiles and experiments to protect torpedo lines, was adopted. Another appropriation of $750,000 for the establishment of a gun factory at Watervliet Arsenal, West Troy, N. Y., was offered and earnestly supported by Senators Hawley and Morgan, but without action on the amendment, the Senate, at 5:15 p. m., adjourned till to-morrow.

HOUSE.

Mr. Blount (Ga.) was elected Speaker pro tem in the absence of Mr. Carlisle.

Mr. Spinola, from the committee on military affairs, reported back Senate bill for the relief of Major-General W. W. Averill. Placed on the private calendar.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the Tariff bill.

Mr. Baker (N. Y.) moved to strike from the free list vegetables in their natural state or in salt or brine not specially enumerated or provided for.

Mr. Mills said the clause did not refer to potatoes, which were specifically provided for. The clause was in the interest of the consumers, and he asked were the Republicans willing to reduce taxation.

A colloquy between Messrs. Mills, Brumm, J. D. Taylor (O.) and Kelley (Pa.) followed, in which Mr. Mills contended that the Republican platform favored free whisky and taxes on necessaries, while the purpose of the Democrats was to take taxes from necessaries and leave them on luxuries.

The Republicans denied this strenuously, Mr. Kelley saying that no man who had read or heard what he had said on the subject of internal taxation since the close of the war was justified in charging him with being in favor of free whisky. He had never favored it. It was a dire party necessity which made the chairman of the ways and means committee make such charges against him personally or as a representative of his party. He asked the Democratic party to keep its promises of four years ago to the South, which had been defeated into their support by their lying promises to remove the internal revenue taxes.

Mr. Reed thought that the gentleman from Texas did not mean to be believed when he said the Republican party was for free whisky, because the gentleman knew that there would not be enough Democrats left to make up an electoral ticket in half the States of the Union if they had confidence in his statement.

Mr. Wise proclaimed himself a Democrat, and that he was in favor of the repeal of the tobacco tax.

After further discussion, Mr. Baker's motion was rejected, and the committee rose.

On motion of Mr. Randall, a joint resolution was passed providing for the expenditures of the Government for thirty days after June 30, in case the appropriations failed to pass by that time—the end of the fiscal year.

The House went into committee again, and Mr. Cannon defended the Chicago platform, and gave his construction of the internal-revenue plank.

Mr. Mills presented committee amendments, which were adopted, placing on the free list German looking-glass plates, blown and silvered, and striking out plums and prunes.

Efforts to strike out chicory and dandelion root, cocoa and figs were unsuccessful

An amendment, offered by Mr. Farquhar (N. Y.), to strike out books and pamphlets printed in other languages than English, was, after debate lost.

On motion of Democratic members, there were struck from the free list hatters' fur not on the skin, lime, linseed, flaxseed, marble of all kinds, and plaster of paris, when ground or calcined.

Mr. Parker (Pa.) had read a protest against the passage of the Mills bill, signed by over eight hundred manufacturers and business men of Philadelphia, employing one hundred and fifty thousand persons.

The committee having risen, the conference report on the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill was agreed to, and the House, at 5 p m, adjourned.

AFTER WILBANKS' SCALP.

Charges Preferred Against Superintendent of Mails Wilbanks at Chicago—He was Pernicious ly Active.

CHICAGO, June 28.—The News this morning says: "Postmaster Judd and Mr. Goudy have preferred charges to the Postmaster-General against R. A. D. Wilbanks, superintendent of mails, and demand the latter's removal from the service. They want him removed because he attended the St. Louis Democratic National convention, and while there assisted, it is understood, in digging Mr. Goudy's political grave. Mr. Goudy, after the convention, hied himself to Washington, and there preferred formal charges against Chicago's superintendent of mails, and there the matter rests. When questioned on the subject, yesterday, Messrs. Judd and Goudy refused to talk. Mr. Wilbanks said he had no official information on the subject, but understood from private letters that the charges were based upon his attending the St. Louis convention, and that it grew out of his advocacy of Erskine M. Phelps for National committeeman.

BOSTON, June 29.—At the annual business meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard College yesterday, there was a very good attendance. The business transacted was of a routine character. After the re-election of the old board of officers, the members formed in line, and with the graduating class, headed by a band, marched to Sander's Theater. The exercises opened with prayer by Rev. Phillip Brooks, after which President Thayer, of the Society, introduced Charles K. Elliott, who delivered the oration of the day. The annual dinner of the society, which was served after the oration, was private.

Ambushed by Moonshiners.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 29.—A desperate encounter occurred between revenue officers and moonshiners near Black Springs, Montgomery County, Wednesday. Internal Revenue Collector Fry and a posse raided the moonshiners' camp in the vicinity, destroying three distilleries. Shortly afterward the posse was attacked from ambush by an armed band of moonshiners. A regular battle ensued, in which Deputy United States Marshal Trammel was killed. Collector Fry has telegraphed to Fort Smith for reinforcements.

RATIFIED.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the County Democracy of New York.

Ringing Speeches by Hon. John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, Governor Hill of New York, and Others.

Judge Thurman Officially Notified of His Nomination to the Vice-Presidency.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Academy of Music was crowded to its full capacity last night on the occasion of the ratification by the County Democracy of the Democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominations. Besides the immense audience that filled the grand auditorium, several hundred persons found standing room on the stage. The house was profusely and handsomely decorated with flags and banners, arranged in many designs. Portraits of Cleveland and Thurman were prominently displayed, and Irish and German flags were conspicuously a part of the general decorations. There were a large number of ladies present. It was half-past eight o'clock before the prominent speakers and the chairman of the meeting entered. Thunders of applause greeted Governor Hill, who was escorted by Police Commissioner Voorhis. As the party entered, the flags on the festooned proscenium arch slowly descended, followed by a hitherto hidden banner, on which were huge portraits of the Democratic candidates, between which stood a figure of the Goddess of Liberty. The applause was redoubled at this, and cheers were lustily given for Grover Cleveland and "Old Bandana", and repeated for Governor Hill.

When the audience became quiet, Colonel M. C. Murphy called them to order. D. Willis James was made permanent chairman, and acknowledged the honor in a happy speech. A long list of vice-presidents and secretaries were elected, and a number of letters of regret were read, among them one from Mayor Hewitt, whose name was greeted with mingled cheers and hisses. The portion of his letter referring to official duties preventing political activity, was greeted with derisive laughter, which was drowned by cheers.

Among the other letter-writers were Hon. Perry Belmont, Lieutenant-Governor Jones, Governor Green of New Jersey, Secretary of State Cook, Hon. George Raines, General Franz Sigel, Assemblyman Kent, of Oneida, and Hon. J. I. Goodrich, of Delhi.

After the letter-reading came the resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

An overflow meeting was held in Nilsson Hall, which was as thoroughly crowded as the Academy.

The resolutions cordially indorse the nominations of Cleveland and Thurman, whose unanimous choice by the convention was significant of the universal approval of the Democracy of the nation; commend Mr. Cleveland's administration as marked by sleepless vigilance in repelling attempts to squander the public moneys and a display of masterly ability, unquestioned integrity and invincible courage; and attest the fidelity with which he has kept the pledges made by the Democratic party in 1884. They also congratulate the Democracy of the Nation on the nomination of Mr. Thurman, whose greatness as a jurist and statesman, opposition to the designs of the Pacific railroad corporations, and earnest efforts to restrict Chinese immigration, have entitled him to the place he has won in the hearts of the people.

The resolutions indorse the platform of the St. Louis convention, and pledge unreserved support to both the platform and the candidates

The chairman then introduced Hon. John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, whose name was the signal or uproarious cheering.

Mr. Carlisle began his speech with a humorous description of the evils which four years ago were predicted as the consequences of Democratic victory—the resumption of slavery; the abolition of pensions, etc.

Those, he said, were founded upon the assumption that the Democratic party was devoid of patriotism and common sense Under

Hon. John G. Carlisle.

Republican rule the Government was an immense party organization, merely for the distribution of patronage and spoils The country was sorely in need of the common sense, the strong integrity and patriotism of Grover Cleveland. [Applause.] The speaker predicted that the next election would insure the final and permanent triumph of the Democratic party, for the Republican party could not withstand another defeat, and would go to pieces as its predecessors had done The distinguishing characteristic of Democracy was not temporal adherence to any issue, but its devotion to the principles of liberty and equality. [Applause.] The Democratic party makes no war on capital, but it denounces trusts and combinations as dangerous to the rights of the people. We are, therefore, in favor of that policy which will secure the enactment of such laws as will benefit the whole people. The Republicans are the same as they were four years ago. They ask to get in now that they may atone for some of the wrong they have done [Laughter.] What, he asked, has the Republican party done for the people? What does its platform mean? Nothing; absolutely nothing. Every abuse it now complains of was inaugurated by itself during its term of office. Every reform the Republicans call out for now was made necessary by their executive officers. They profess to be in favor of further reform in the civil service, and yet while in power the Republicans so abused the civil service that Congress was obliged to interfere.

I say if a Democratic official to-day were guilty of such deeds as the Republicans committed during their terms of power, he would be sent to the penitentiary. They denounce the Democratic party as wishing to demonetize silver, but the Democratic party has not tried to do so. Yet it is just what the Republican party did do. It demonetized silver coin. On every day of every year since the succession of Grover Cleveland, the silver dollar has been kept on a par with gold. For this the Administration deserves credit rather than condemnation. Now, about this tariff question. The Republican party has declared for free whisky and free tobacco. [Laughter.] They say we are for free trade. Now, while we cheerfully concede to the Republican party the right to define its own position, we deny its right to define ours. [Applause.] Whoever asserts that the Democratic party is for free trade, or that Grover Cleveland or the Democratic majority in Congress is for free trade, is ignorant of the terms he uses, or is so blinded by partisan prejudice that he can not do justice to his political opponents.

Since the establishment of the Government the larger part of its revenue has been raised upon imported goods. But it has been collecting more revenue than it needed, so the Mills bill was prepared. Here it is. [Applause.] I am sure many of those who are denouncing it as a free-trade measure have not read a single line of it, and would not understand it if they had. We would put raw wool on the free list and make a corresponding reduction upon woolen goods. Strange as it may seem to our Republican friends the Democratic party are more in favor of cheap woolen goods than cheap whisky. [Great applause.] The average ad valorem duty on woolen goods now is 68 per cent. The Mills bill would make it 42 per cent., and the average duty over 40 per cent. If this bill passes the average rates of duty would be higher than they were previous to 1861, when they were highly increased, not for protection, but to raise revenue to prosecute the war. The tariff will be four times as high as it was in the first tariff when your manufacturing industries were in their infancy

The Democratic party does not advocate free trade. It believes that the prosperity of the country will be promoted by the reduction of duties on imports, and by this plank the party proposes to stand or fall. We know that labor is paid for at last in the markets where its products can be sold. The sale of your products is confined to the markets of the United States. There must be loss demand for your goods and less wages for the workingmen than if you had wider markets. We will cheerfully meet our opponents at the polls in November, and fight the battle. I will now yield the stand to the other gentlemen.

After three prolonged cheers for Mr. Carlisle, Governor Hill was introduced. The Governor was obliged to stand several minutes before he could be heard. The band played "Hail to the Chief", but the music could not be heard above the applause. Governor Hill said:

It is with extreme pleasure that I unite with this fellow-organization, known as the County Democracy of New York, in ratifying the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman. Indeed this proceeding is wholly unnecessary because those nominations have already been ratified in the hearts and affections of the whole American people. President Cleveland needs no introduction to the American people Neither does he need any eulogy at my hands. Four years ago it was said of him "We love him for the enemies he has made." It can truthfully be said of him now: "We respect him for the friends he has made." It was said of him four years ago that he was weak. To-day they say he is too headstrong and obstinate. [Laughter.] Four years ago they told us he was not enough of a statesman; to-day his statesmanship is known from one end of the country to the other. It was said his policy would bring him into disfavor with his party; a unanimous nomination was the answer that party gave. It was said his advent to power would bring disaster upon the business interests of the country; you have seen nearly four years of prosperity There has been no business depression; no commercial panic; no scandals have disgraced his administration, and the people are satisfied with that administration I do not propose to discuss the great issues of this campaign. Permit me to say, however, in a very few words, the issue is a simple one. The country is confronted to-day by a system of taxation and tariff which is producing one hundred million dollars more revenue than it needs for legitimate expenses. There are also in the treasury one hundred and twenty-five million dollars of surplus doing nobody any good whatever. It is daily increasing. The Democratic party being in power, so far as the presidency and the Lower house of Congress is concerned, the question arises: Shall this continue, or shall it be stopped? The Democratic position is that the place for the taxation is in the pockets of the people, rather than the treasury of the country. We are not in favor of free trade. If I thought or believed that this platform favored free trade I should not be here to-night [Applause.] You will not find a single line of it that will bear such construction. Revenue revision is not revenue annihilation. As well say that a man who objects to the building of an extravagantly expensive church is opposed to religion, or that he is opposed to education because he objects to wasteful expenditure in constructing a school house. The Democratic position is conservative It recognizes that there are varied interests to be protected; that the interests of labor, as well as capital, should be protected. The question is will it be done by a high tariff or a low tariff In 1884 the Republican party stated that it favored a correction of inequalities in the tariff I have looked their platform through in vain to find such a statement this year. The inequalities which existed in 1884 exist now They have been created by the Republican party, and have been maintained by the Republican party

Governor Hill alluded to the proposition of the Republican platform to abolish the internal revenue, and said:

No wonder that their great leader, Mr. Blaine (hisses and cheers), when he heard of that platform, refused to accept a nomination based on it

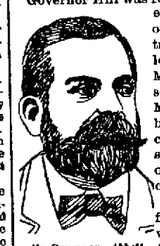
Referring to the protective tariff of the Republican party, he said:

They say this is the American system. I deny it; it is an American in its scope and all its detail What interest has the Democratic party in Europe that it should champion its interests? Those men of intense Americanism are the very men who spend most of their time traveling in Europe. I resent the imputation that the Democratic party is seeking to build up the interests of England or of Europe. The Republican party is truly a protection party. It has protected every scheme to take money from the people, every trust and corporation, every raid made upon the country whereby public lands have been given to corporations. It has protected the only whisky ring that ever existed; it protected the thieves that robbed the presidency from Samuel J. Tilden.

Governor Hill eulogized Ex-Senator Thurman, and in conclusion said:

We are opposed to monopoly, to fanaticism and to all those interests which have been to the injury of the people in times past; and now let us resolve to put forward every effort that we may rejoice in the victory that awaits us.

Governor Hill was followed by Ex-Governor Leon Abbett, of New Jersey, District Attorney Follows, Hon. Benton McMillan, of Tennessee, and others. Mr. McMillan's speech bristled with witticisms, and was at the same time marvelously effective and convincing.



Ex-Governor Abbett.

United in Marriage.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs George Lower, 471 South Seigel street, was the scene of an interesting matrimonial event last evening at 9 o'clock, when Miss Adele Lower became the wife of Giles R. Warren, only son of Hon and Mrs. John K. Warren, Rev. W. H. Prestley, of the Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony Only the immediate relatives and mere intimate friends of the families were present. The attendants were Misses Daisy and Mabel Durfee and Lou Griswold and Walter Lower Pretty floral designs ornamented the parlor The happy bride wore a broadcloth traveling dress of drab color, the ornaments being roses. The bridesmaids were attired in becoming dresses of challie cloth. Congratulations of a warm nature were extended and before the couple departed on their bridal tour refreshments were served. Many beautiful gifts were bestowed. Mr. and Mrs. Warren left at 12 o'clock for the northern summer resorts, where they will remain until about August 15th. On their return they will be given a reception at the home of the groom's parents.

Continued.

The burglary case against William Geilhausen, charged with robbing Harvey W. Downing's residence, came up in Justice Curtis' court this forenoon The examination was put off until Monday and the prisoner returned to jail

THE program for the county Sunday school convention will soon be printed. The convention will be held in the M E church at Mt. Zion, Thursday and Friday, August 30 and 31 Good speakers are down for discussion of topics.

Why Not?

The members of Goodman's Band, at their practice meeting last night, seriously considered the proposition of leasing the base ball park for the season for the purpose of giving the public summer evening concerts, athletic exhibitions base ball games and bicycle runs The Band should secure the park and inaugurate the concerts The Terre Haute musicians have been wanting to come over to Decatur for several seasons to join Goodman's Band in a festival. Here is the opportunity Hire the park. The committee, Messrs. Martin, Williams, Zimmerman, Gilkeson and Hall, will confer with the base ball association about buying the park fence

Mated.

Rev. F W Niedermeyer, of this city, and Mrs Susan Sampson, of Madison county, Iowa, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at the First M. E. church parsonage by Rev James Miller.

THE Switzer-Hamilton company had another large and appreciative audience at the opera house last night to witness the play, "My Partner." The Chinaman made a big hit by local allusions. This evening "Marble Heart" will be the bill. Family matinee Saturday afternoon.

Lacks Faith.

Al. Morgan has been urged pretty strongly since the break-up of the ball club, to secure a team and play out the season in Decatur. He thought well of the proposition at first and had enthusiastic backers, but the delay in negotiating for possession of the park has caused him to loose faith in the result of collecting a winning team, with the business run down at the heel, caused by the wretched playing of the old club. He doesn't see millions in the venture, but he would have made the attempt had there been any assurance of getting possession of the grounds in time to play games on July 4th. The outlook is dubious at present, because a paltry few hundred dollars is not forthcoming.

Young Men's Republican Club.

You are hereby notified that a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Campaign Marching Club will be held at Guards' Armory on Monday evening, July 2d, at 8 o'clock p. m. ED. W. HEILMAN.

The Guards will leave soon for Springfield to attend the annual encampment of the Fifth Regiment.

The attendants were Miss Ellen Taylor, of Williamsville, Miss Lulian Elliott, of Lincoln, Miss Puss Simms, of Illiopolis, Miss Grace Stafford, of Decatur, and Messrs. Henry Capps, George Danner, Fred Schmitt and C. E. Osborne. It was the largest and most joyous wedding ever witnessed at Mt. Pulaski. A fine marriage feast was served. During his residence at Lincoln a few years since, Mr. Stafford was made chief of the fire department, and the entire department came over from Lincoln on the P, D. & E train last night to give the newly married couple a reception in the town hall, which was elaborately decorated for the festivities, dancing following the presentations. The bride was the recipient of a great number of wedding gifts, one being a china dinner set of 156 pieces from the fire laddies Mr. and Mrs. H. H Stafford, Mr. and Mrs Elmer Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Al Cassell and Miss Mollie Hoy, of Decatur, were at the marriage. Another 1840 Relic.

The memory of Gen. W. H. Harrison and the stirring times of the memorable Whig campaign of 1840 are dear to the old people in all parts of the country, and many relics of 1840 are preserved in thousands of homes throughout the land. Numerous reminders of "Old Tippecanoe" exist in Decatur, and they are coming out since the grandson of the old General has been nominated for President by the Republican party. The latest memento is a lithograph letter-head brought to the REPUBLICAN by Daniel Dustman, the furniture dealer, whose wife has preserved the pictures for nearly half a century At the top of the unruled page is portrait of Old Tippecanoe as he appeared in 1840 and at the right is the historical log cabin with open door, two barrels of hard cider in the yard with the General's Indian fighters in uniform near the cider barrels. Mr Dustman was not old enough then to vote, but he remembers very well that he walked 12 miles one day to shake hands with the General. He will vote for Ben in November.

It Was a Boomer.

The patriotic Republicans of Cerro Gordo joined in a booming ratification meeting last night The anvils were fired rapidly, the bonfire burned 25 feet high, the band played, there was a big parade, and the large town hall was filled to the doors. After songs by the glee club, John A. Brown, of Decatur, spoke for an hour. He was followed by Chas Hughes and Mr. Orton

Eight years ago Levi P Morton fitted out the ship Constellation with food for the starving people of Ireland This benefaction, which undoubtedly saved many lives, cost the donor about $50,000.

A Church Wedding.

The village of Warrensburg was all qui vive yesterday The bans between Rev. Gilmore Cunningham, the popular Methodist Episcopal preacher of Warrensburg, and the accomplished Miss Hattie Thompson, one of his parishioners, daughter of the leading merchant of the village, Geo. W. Thompson, had for several days been published, and at 7 30 last evening a large audience which overflowed the building gathered at the church to witness the ceremony, which was performed in the best Methodist style by Rev W H. Wilder, P. E., using the church ritual in full The decorations of the church were elaborate, the floral booth overhanging the bridal pair, producing a fine effect. The bride and groom were faultlessly dressed, as were also their attendants, Miss Annis Childs and L B. Osborne, of Mt. Zion. After the ceremony the invited guests repaired to the residence of Mr. Thompson, where an elegant repast was served There were present friends from Atlanta, McLean, Mt. Pulaski, Latham and Decatur, among whom were Rev. W H Davis and wife, Misses Kittie and Maud Sears, Grace Shoemaker and Eva and Ida Humphrey, of this city The liberal supply of presents indicated the popularity of the young people.

Free Trade Makes Slaves.

The American

Some years ago one of the Queen's Scotch chaplains preached and published a sermon on the curses which the rage for cheapness was inflicting upon English wage-earners. The Earl of Dunraven has made a report to the House of Lords on the condition of the tailors in the East End of London, which reads like a chapter from "Alton Locke," and shows that in that quarter there has been no improvement in the last thirty years He finds that men's wages in this trade range from thirty to fifty cents a day, and that a woman could not earn twenty cents by working from seven in the morning until midnight on waistcoats American women's wages in this line are poor enough, because the trade is unorganized and overstocked, but they are far above these figures Would the condition of our poor be much improved if the Free-Traders were to succeed in their plans to take the duty off clothing?

Lord Dunraven in submitting his report, said that he "believed that the conditions of the lives of these people were more deplorable than those of any body of workingmen in any portion of the civilized or uncivilized world—infinitely worse to his mind than a state of absolute slavery. It was not strange that under such circumstances, as the report stated, women were driven on the streets, and that the strongest men were killed out in the course of eight or ten years. What a glorious product this was of the civilization of our age—what a noble result of the nineteenth century, with all its science! The consequence of free competition, which political economists told them were so beneficial, was that men and women had to work eighteen hours a day for merely starvation wages, that women were driven to a life of dishonor as being less degraded than the horrible circumstances which attended a life of honest toil, and that the working life of a strong man was limited to eight or ten years."

Removal.

Dr A. J. Roe will, on Monday, July 2, remove from over the postoffice to his new quarters in the Roberts building, on the south side of the New Square, No. 247 South Park street. The Doctor will occupy the entire second floor, which will be fitted up in first-class style, with separate apartments for ladies. The rooms will be fully equipped with all the latest improved appliances for the successful treatment of all chronic and nervous diseases.

There will be no need hereafter to go to Chicago in order to secure the benefit to be derived from the use of the Electric Vapor Bath, Static Electricity, or any of the other improved methods of treatment usually to be found only in the medical institutes in the large cities. Everyone is invited to call and examine these improved appliances and judge for themselves. 27-dawlw

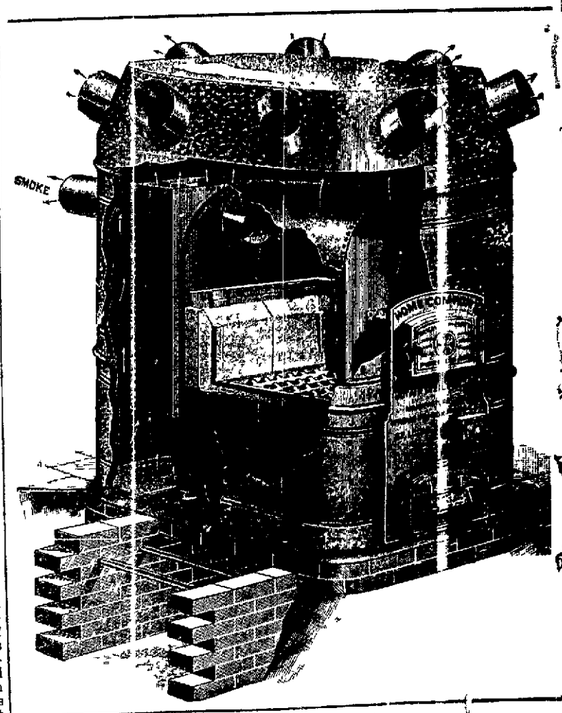
"HOME COMFORT" FURNACES.



NO GAS, Wrought Steel,
No Dust, Malleable Iron,
Very Little Fuel, No Leaky Joints.

No one can say that the time was not ripe for a new furnace. The days of brittle, porous, cast iron furnaces are numbered. In every branch of manufacture cast iron is being driven out by wrought iron and steel. Every bridge that goes down in a wreck of lives and property is found to have cast iron members. Every bursting cannon which slays its friends rather than its enemies is made of cast iron. Every leaky furnace which poisons a household with its noisome gases is found to be made of the same cheap, unreliable material. Improved methods of manufacture have made steel and iron plate, of first quality, less expensive than cast iron formerly was, and it is plainly in accord with progress in other directions that there should be progress both in design and the material of furnaces for warming our homes, churches and schools.

THE MODERN BEDSTEAD.

Why Beds Should Be Placed Well Above the Level of the Floor.

Primitive and Oriental people lie on the ground or on a carpet, bed or mattress which is laid on the ground. Modern Western civilization is not satisfied with this; it demands bedsteads, with legs that shall raise the sleeper well above the floor level. Is any sound scientific justification of this latter practice discoverable? I think there is, and that my explanation will prove that the question is not so frivolous as it may at first sight appear. A very interesting paper was read before the Society of Arts by Dr. Percy F. Frankland, in which, among other matters, he described experiments made by himself and others, proving that microbia, pathogenic and otherwise, do not remain suspended in still air; they fall much more freely than might be supposed from what is known concerning infection by poison germs floating in the air. Hesse's experiments show this clearly. Koch's method of testing for the existence of microbia in the air was to expose dishes or strips of glass containing gelatinous solid films. On these the microbir fall and find abundant nutriment, and multiply accordingly, forming colonies that may be counted, and may be examined with the microscope. But this only indicates the numbers falling on a given area, not the numbers contained in a given measure of air. To determine these, Hesse used tubes about three feet long and one and one-half inches in diameter, internally coated with the sterlic nutritious gelatine-peptone. A measured quantity of air was drawn slowly through the tubes, when it was discovered that the colonies were all at the bottom of the tube, and not evenly distributed even over the bottom, but were more or less crowded together at the end where the air entered, and more and more sparsely distributed further inward until the latter half of the tube was almost entirely free. The microbia had all fallen down in the course of the short journey of the air. The mold colonies spread all along the tube, showing that fungus germs float in the air, while bacteria fall. Other experiments show that in an ordinary apartment the questionable organisms are more and more abundant, descending from ceiling to floor. Therefore the raising of our beds well above the level of the floor places us in a better atmosphere, so far as these microbin are concerned, than if we slept as in the East. This is especially the case in the air of the room is still, as is usually the case in the bed-rooms of these latitudes. In rooms of the old oriental pattern, without window glass, the case is somewhat different. It may be supposed that carbonic acid being heavier than air, there is much more near the floor than a little higher. Owing to the diffusibility of the gas, this, however, is not the case in any measurable degree. The carbonic acid we expire gets an upward start on leaving our lungs; the mixture expired is, except in hot weather, specifically lighter than that which we inspire on account of its higher temperature.—Gentlemen's Magazine.

A LARGE SAPPHIRE.

A Gem Whose Value Has Been Placed at Sixteen Million Dollars.

The Berlin Borsen Zeitung says that the Prussian capital has long contained a jewel of quite a fabulous value, the news of whose existence was first made known to the general public by the reports of the last session of the Polytechnic Society. This noble stone is a sapphire, and is the property of the members of that learned body. It weighs a little more than six ounces. The jury of the Polytechnic Society on the grounds, stated in full at their discussion, would have settled its value at the frightful sum of 64,000,000 marks, or $16,000,000. It need hardly be said that such a treasure is not likely to find a purchaser at such a price. It is contended by some of the adepts that the stone is not perfectly pure so that its price may, perhaps, be reduced; but it can never be so far lowered as to tempt the richest and most eccentric collector in the world to give any thing like the sum which must be asked for it. In the year 1872 a Berlin mineralogist offered to go as far as 67,500 marks, but in vain, as the unique jewel had already been refused in 1860 to a German Prince, who had offered a far larger price. Its present possessor has placed his treasure in State custody for the sake of his heir, as the Borsen Zeitung says, though we imagine that its future owner will not find it easy to realize any thing more than distinction out of his very exceptional piece of property. All the experts who have scrutinized the sapphire agree that it is a genuine conundrum. The "sapper" of the books of Exodus and Ezekiel, like the "sapphires" of Ilng, were probably our lapis lazuli.—Jewelry News.

—The dialect of the New York Whyo gang is Choctaw to the uninitiated. For instance, a schooner of beer is a "basin," a month in jail is "a stone," a week is "a brick," and the favorite oath of some of the blackguards is: "If I did dat may I be as low as me mudder." As a matter of fact, the parents of the ruffians are in the majority of instances hard-working people, who weep over the evil ways of their sons.

—It is estimated that the total production of coffee in the world is about 600,000 tons to 650,000 tons, of which Brazil alone produces between 340,000 and 380,000 tons and Java 60,000 to 90,000 tons.

THERE is no denying the fact that Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic is the most successful blood purifier ever put on the market. Its wonderful cures in all stomach, kidney and liver troubles has brought out many imitations. It restores debilitated nerve tissues, restoring the force lost by sickness, mental work or the excessive use of liquor, opium and tobacco. Dr. A. J. Stoner will supply the genuine at 50 cents a bottle. 3b
